In the News

Happy Halloween! Besides hay-rides and all the candy there are some scary costumes out there this year. I look forward to this holiday every year and have always been a fan of scary costumes and the horror movies, but something even scarier to me is realizing that I may not have a good backup of my critical data. Iowa Solutions is pleased to announce the launch of our new Online Backup Service. It's secure, reliable, easy to setup, and affordable enough for both your business as well as your personal PCs. Don't go another day being scared about not having a good backup; call us today!

Technology Spotlight

Along with the launch of our Online Backup Service I'm also proud to spotlight a NEW company this month. TheLaptopCompany.com

In development for the past year TheLaptopCompany.com will officially be launched in November providing the PERFECT laptop at an affordable price for every home user and student. As technology professionals at Iowa Solutions we are always because asked "What computer system should I buy for my home"? We now have the answer; check us out at www.TheLaptopCompany.com and choose the package that best fits you. Our goal is to provide the same system to you that we would purchase for ourselves and family members. This includes the correct hardware, the right software, and (of course) everything configured properly. Check out our unique features including our "complete care warranty" covering all hardware related items at no extra charge.

- ✓ Homework Safeguards
- ✓ Online Security
- ✓ Only What You Need
- ✓ Warranty & Protection

These Brand New laptops with our included features provide the best value possible when purchasing a new laptop. Please check us out online!

Tips & Tricks

With the end of the year approaching now is a good time to take a look at the software that your company is currently using? Is it easy to use, or outdated, have knowledgeable support, rich features, and most of all; is it benefiting my company and customers? All too often the software which runs your business is overlooked because "well it's what we've always done"... I strongly suggest that you take 5min when finished reading this newsletter and think about how Interactive Applications could benefit your business!

If you would like to offer your clients and customers 24 hour service, a good web-based application can be the answer. Giving customers access to your company any time day or night, and providing them with fast, convenient access to critical information, helps build client satisfaction and improve customer retention. Contact John today at 319.310.1577 and we'll help you provide your customers and/or employees with solutions that can help.
